

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides methods and systems to facilitate pattern recognition in complex biological data using component plane presentations of clustered data.